

FIPS CONGRESS-2019

VIII Congress of Federation of Indian Physiological Societies - 2019 27- 29th September, 2019

SK MANCHANDA MEMORIAL ORATION AWARD (FIPS ORATION)

It would be awarded to distinguished scientists in the field of physiology. The award would be given to one Indian Scientist and One Foreign Scientist, working in any branch/ discipline of Physiology. The award is given during the FIPS congress, which is normally takes place once in three years.

THE AWARD

The award will be given in the form of a plaque. The Indian Scientist receiving the award will be provided the travelling allowance in the form of Air Ticket (Economy class)/Train Fare (2 AC Sleeper), to travel from the city of residence/academic institute of the scientist to the venue of the conference and back.

The foreign scientist will have to arrange the travel expense from source available to him/her. The organisers of the congress will provide local hospitality to both the awardees.

NOMINATION

The nominations are invited from the FIPS participating societies (PSI, ISCAP, SAPI and APPI) in the form of detailed bio-data to General Secretary, FIPS

THE LAST DATE FOR NOMINATION SUBMISSION IS 31st July 2019

For further details, please feel free to contact at physiology.ac@gmail.com

Dr(Prof) Amar K Chandra

Gen. Secretary, FIPS

Cell No. 09433161840

The first FIPS oration lecture was delivered by Nobel Laureate Prof Sir AF Huxley on 16th March 1991. The second, third and fourth orations were delivered by Prof Y Oomura, Prof Masao Ito and Prof AS Paintal respectively. During 5th congress of FIPS at Triupati (17-19, Dec 2013), the oration award was given to Dr ML Madan, Chairman, Livestock Sub-group, Haryana Former's Commission (Indian Scientist) & Dipak K Sarkar, Professor, Rutgers University (Foreign Scientist). During 6th congress of FIPS at Kolkata (18-20, Dec 2015), the oration award was given to Lt Gen (Dr) Velu Nair, PVSM, AVSM, VSM, former Director General Medical Services (Army) & Colonel Commandant (Indian Scientist). During 7th Congress of FIPS at New Delhi (5-7 Nov 2017), the oration award was given to Dr Manoj K Chakraborty, FAScT, FNASc. Emeritus Scientist and Former Director(I/C), NICED General President Elect, ISCA [Foreign Scientist] Dr Saber Hussain Professor, Pharm/Tox, WSU Air Force Research Laboratory/RH, OH USA.